

COMMUNICATING WITH PEOPLE WHO ARE DEAF OR HAVE HEARING LOSS

Not everyone's communication needs are the same.

If you don't know, ask them how best you can communicate with them.

The Accessible Information Standard puts a legal requirement on all NHS health and social care providers in England to identify communication needs and provide information in people's preferred format.

RN
I:D

Communication Tips

BSL interpreters

British Sign Language (BSL) is structured very differently to written English. Therefore, it is vital that a BSL interpreter is booked for BSL users appointments.

Aid lip reading if possible, wear an approved clear face mask

Reduce background noise if possible, move to a quieter area

Get their attention before speaking and face them

Speak directly to them not their interpreter or anyone they have with them

Don't shout use normal lip movements and facial expressions

Use clear, plain language and be straight to the point

Communication Tips

Re-phrase if they ask you to repeat or don't understand

Check understanding by asking them to repeat information back

Write things down if needed. You can also use speech-to-text apps

Contacting people over the phone

Use Relay UK for people with hearing loss.

Visit www.relayuk.bt.com

Use video relay services such as InterpreterNow for BSL users.

Visit www.interpreternow.co.uk

Where possible, use alternative communication methods such as SMS, E-mail or video conferencing with captions.

RNID is the trading name of The Royal National Institute for Deaf People. A registered charity in England and Wales (207720) and Scotland (SC038926).

RN
I:D